

SALT

Arkansas Archeology Month 2023

Native people in Arkansas began making salt nearly a thousand years ago. Evidence such as large, shallow pans for evaporating brine from saline springs is found across the state. Salt was an important commodity to the Caddo people and the later Europeans in Arkansas and beyond.

Join the Arkansas Archeological Society's Training Program June 3–17, 2023 at Holman Springs, a Caddo salt production site in Sevier County, to explore more about archeology and salt production in Arkansas.

Arkansas Archeological Society: arkarch.org
Arkansas Archeological Survey: arkansasarcheology.org

